

The Center for Latin American Studies (CLAS)
at the University of Pittsburgh
Presents

PANORAMAS LATIN AMERICAN ROUNDTABLE

Theater and Performance in the Americas

Have you wondered about the intersection of theatre and Latin America?

Speakers:

Lisa Jackson-Schebetta

Assistant professor
University of Pittsburgh

Ricardo Vila-Roger

Pittsburgh-based actor, singer, and director

Maria Enriquez

K. Leroy Irvis Fellow and PhD candidate
University of Pittsburgh

Diego Villada

K. Leroy Irvis Fellow and doctoral student
University of Pittsburgh

Tomorrow, February 4, 2016

4217 Posvar Hall
University of Pittsburgh Campus

12:15 p.m.

Theatre and Performance are scholarly and artistic fields. The theory and practice of theatre and performance not only depend upon one another; they intersect with and impinge upon pressing national and international issues surrounding representation, opportunity and justice.

Come discuss landscapes of Latino/a and Latin American theatre and performance with scholars, professional theatre makers and teachers. Learn how to get involved and/or incorporate theatre and performance into your own creative, academic and professional work.

Join us for pizza and a stimulating discussion!

For more information about the event email: bravo@pitt.edu

Visit Panoramas at: <http://www.panoramas.pitt.edu/>