This is a basic course on the visual arts that offers the student a broad introduction to the medium of film. As part of this overview, the class will consider such issues as: the process of contemporary film production and distribution; the nature of basic film forms; selected approaches to film criticism; comparisons between film and the other media.

The course will open with a detailed consideration of the context and causes of World War II, including World War I, the Versailles Treaty, and the Great Depression. We will discuss the determinants of Hitler’s rise to power and of German expansionism in the 1930’s. We will examine the military struggle of World War II, but such topics as economic mobilization, propaganda, occupation policies, resistance movements and the Holocaust also receive significant attention. The course concludes with an analysis of war-time diplomacy, the postwar settlement, and the onset of the Cold War.

This course is devoted to the exploration of the historical experience of the lands between Germany and Russia from the time the region was first settled by Nomadic tribes to the present. During these one thousand years Eastern Europe was transformed from feudalism to communism and our emphasis will be to understand the ways in which the interaction of social, economic, intellectual, cultural, demographic and political processes contributed to this metamorphosis.
The Slavic, East European, and Near Eastern Summer Language Institute, attracting students from all over the United States and Canada, will consist of intensive, five-hours-a-day instruction in a carefully maintained environment, allowing students to make the greatest possible progress in the language during the time available. Cultural and social activities, including lectures, discussion groups, and performances, will supplement classroom learning. PLEASE NOTE: Students should not register for these courses without making formal application to the institute. Application and scholarship information are available from the Center for Russian and East European Studies in 4400 Posvar Hall, at 412-648-7407, or on the web at sli.pitt.edu. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis; space is limited. Over 95% of applicants last year received partial or full scholarships. The deadline to apply for scholarships and for all SLI study abroad programs was March 3, 2017, but space may still be available for some programs. Please contact Dawn Seckler (das200@pitt.edu) with inquiries.
