REES CERTIFICATE COURSE SCHEDULE Summer Term 2167 (May 9, 2016 - August 13, 2016)

11331 ECON ECON 0500 INTRO INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS Maksymenko, Svitlana WWPH 4716 Meets Reqs: COM MW 08:30 AM to 11:45 AM 3 Credits This course provides an introduction to the field of international economics. The course divides roughly in half between topics from international trade and from international finance. Topics to be covered include: comparative advantage; the effects of tariffs and other forms of protectionism; U.S. commercial policy; the balance of payments; exchange rates; and the international monetary system. 17621 ECON ECON 0905 CZECH REPUBLIC & POLAND: Maksymenko.Svitlana ECONOMY, POLICY, AND CULTURE TBA 3 Credits This three-credit economics program focuses on the history, politics, sociology, economics and culture of post-war Czech Republic and Poland. Students travel to both Prague and Krakow during this short-term program. Topics covered include the history of the European Union, political and economic developments in Eastern Europe, analysis of the main industries in each country, international trade, banking, education, health care, and tourism. The suggested prerequisite for this program is introductory-level economics. Past day trips and excursions have included tours of each city as well as trips to local museums, banks, and businesses. The program may include a tour of Prague Castle and a day trip to Auschwitz. ARCHITECTURE STUDIES IN CENTRAL TBA HAA HAA TBA Armstrong, EUROPE Christopher Andrew TBA 3 Credits This course will examine the relationship between architecture and identity -- how architecture was used to shape national identities at various periods in response to changing social, economic, and political conditions; how architects shaped their identities through travel, education; how the use of technology, new materials, ornament, and manipulations of building typologies are used to shape institutional, corporate, and individual identities. The context for these examinations will be five cities formerly part of the Habsburg / Austro-Hungarian Empire -- the Czech capital, Prague; the former imperial capital, Vienna; the former provincial (now national) capitals Zagreb and Ljubljana; the industrial city Brno in the Czech Republic. The time span will encompass the Renaissance, Baroque, modern and contemporary periods. Major architectural themes that will be emphasized in this course include: (1) the development of different building types to serve modern needs (museums, hospitals, apartment housing, villa or pavilion type housing); (2) tectonics and the expression of construction; (3) debates about the function and meaning of ornament. The written and built works of the following major central European architects will be examined in detail: Josef Frank, Jozef Hoffmann, Adolf Loos, Josef Marie Olbrich, Jože PleÄnik, Gottfried Semper, Otto Wagner, Hans Hollein, Zaha Hadid, and Wolf Prix (Coop Himmelb(l)au) as well as one house in Vienna designed by the philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein. Classes will be held primarily on-site in Prague, Vienna, Brno, Zagreb, and Ljubljana. 18880 HIST HIST 0187 WORLD WAR II-EUROPE Hagerty, Bernard Meets Reqs: TBA 3 Credits HS REG For details, please contact the Study Abroad Office at 412-648-7413 or abroad@pitt.edu. 17041 HIST HIST 0187 WORLD WAR II-EUROPE Hammond,Leslie Ann Meets Reqs: MW 08:30 AM to 11:45 AM CL 206 3 Credits HS REG
