For the 2021-22 academic year, the ESC has announced its annual programmatic theme: "Recovering Europe." Many of this year's virtual roundtables will speak to this theme. In the Fall semester, sessions will explore economic and public health issues related to Europe's recovery from the pandemic. In the Spring semester, sessions will consider attempts to reckon with and recover from the enduring legacies of European colonialism. The series will be bookended by sessions devoted to important national elections impacting Europe.
