

INFORMATION SESSION: healthcare in british context

Date: Monday, November 15, 2021 at 11:00 am via Zoom

Interested in global health, nursing, midwifery, and medical practice? Learn how the history in these areas has influenced the development of nursing functions and examine how ethics, sociology, religion, law, economics, and philosophy have affected clinical practice and the impact these have had on the role of nurses and other medical practitioners.

This short-term, accelerated summer program on the Comparative Healthcare Systems and Global Perspectives on Nursing History is a unique opportunity to compare the healthcare systems of the US and the UK and explore questions of universal healthcare, including issues of inequality in accessing it.

Learn more by registering for our information session at <https://bit.ly/2YCCUYx> or visit globalexperiences.pitt.edu/londonhealth

