

ceris fall 2015 book discussion for educators

**Participate in-person or via video-conference*

October 30, 2015, SETON HILL UNIVERSITY GREENSBURG, PA

5:00 – 6:30 PM Dinner, Dining Room, Administration Bldg

6:30 – 8:00 PM Reeves Memorial library, or at your computer***

K-16 educators and librarians are invited to attend the CERIS fall 2015 complimentary dinner and book discussion. Dr. Robert Matson of the University of Pittsburgh Johnstown will facilitate discussion. Registration is required. There are limited free copies of the book available.

The Saint and the Sultan brings to life the battles of the Fifth Crusade as well as the parallel stories of Francis and Sultan al-Kamil, showing why this meeting between two unique men was misrepresented and glossed over for so many years. It also shows the relevance this episode has today as many in the world work gingerly to broker peace between Christians and Muslims.

To register go to <https://cerisnet.secure.pitt.edu/resource/faculty-readers-forum>